

At the American English School, we provide accent reduction services to both international and native speakers of English in Atlanta, GA and online.

We also provide diagnosis and treatment of adult neurological speech-language disorders.

Welcome to the new site. As you can probably tell, we are in the process of rebuilding our site as we move uptown in the online world, and some of our contact information has changed. Please bear with us; we hope to have additional pages online each day. In the meantime, please contact us using the Contact Us tab above with any questions you may have.

NEWS: The next series of Accent Reduction classes at Emory University begins on 24 September 2014. Click HERE for more information.
